- I liked the fact that although everyone's entire grades were based on a group project, every member received a different grade to make things fair. - The instructor is absolutely terrific at being both clear and straightforward with what is needed to succeed in the class. What has been most valuable is how not only is he very enthusiastic with helping each student become more passionate about their project but he also is able to give vital information on how to properly work and communicate within a group working on a games project. - Overall, a great class for people that want to simulate an experience with a production team. I thought the course load was comfortable because it was to the students' taste, and only a heavy work load during deadlines. I like the class structure, too, since it incorporated a lot of time for feedback on projects, which I value highly. - Definitely one of the greatest instructors that I could've had for this course. He has been very open to every team's ideas for their project, and would be available to get advice from for challenges with working as a team. Available to communicate outside of class, and is overall a great person to be around! - Throughout the semester, it has been a great class, especially with the fact that Matt gives a lot of flexibility for groups to work amongst one another. The peer reviews and group reviews helped in regards to determining who has been doing their work and who hasn't within individual groups. The one-on-one meetings were also beneficial to talk to Matt about any possible issues, concerns, or highlights of the group work. - Matt's guidance and organization of the course really helped things work smoothly. His encouragement and enthusiasm for all of the teams and their projects made class really fun and enjoyable.

- None. Class went great. - None - I don't have any qualms with your teaching style. I do wish there were demos of some sort to learn more about Unity or other software. Maybe include a small lecture in the class? Just to have additional knowledge for people that want to learning coding or something along those lines. - N/A - Honestly, there is no need for improvement. I felt that this course was extremely enjoyable and valuable! - The course and style of teaching of this course are fine just the way they are.

- Great class overall
- I strongly feel that my instructor is one of the most passionate and hardworking instructor's that I had the pleasure to learn under and I would strongly suggest if it is possible to give my instructor permanent position as an IMM professor rather than only an adjunct professor. He has a positive perspective on how to educate students by not only listening to what they wish to focus on but giving the proper space needed for students to complete their tasks while also willing to be active with communicating on what can help a student improve greatly.
- I was really happy to be able to expand my portfolio in this class. Thank you, and have a great summer!
- I hope that he has more opportunities to teach a lot more courses in the future, a great professor for everyone to have at least once!
- Great class! I really enjoyed working with my group, and Matt gave a great environment for us to thrive!
- For me, Games 2 ended up going much better than I thought it would. Matt did an excellent job teaching this course and I personally feel he should be hired as a full-time professor.
- At first it felt like some of the later milestones were too short but as of now I do not think it was as much of an issue as I thought it was going to be.
- Overall great class, I really appreciated having the opportunity to collaborate with other students in a caring and supportive teaching environment. One of my favorites this semester.
